

Identifying Relationship vs Non-Identifying Relationship

The identifying relationship makes sure when a tuple exists in a child entity, there is a matching tuple in the parent entity. The non-identifying relationship does not enforce it.

Identifying Relationship

Non-Identifying Relationship

